An Interesting Paper Presented by Super-

The city teachers held their usual monthly institute at the High school building yesterday morning. The programme carried out was an unusually interesting one. It opened with a vocal duet by Mrs. Hobbs and Miss Price, which was well received.

Hobbs and Miss Price, which was well received,

The topic which excited the greatest interest and discussion was the new system of vertical writing. Papers on this subject were read by Mr. J. R. Harrison and Miss McKinley, in whose schools the system has been in use for the past four months as an experiment. The advantages claimed for the new system are legibility, rapidity and compactness.

Superintendent Hanks strongly indersed this new system and proposes to adopt it

SUPERINTENDENT HANKS READS A VERY INSTRUCTIVE LETTER.

Eighth Annual Banquet of the High School Alumni to Be Given Next Week

-Funeral of the Late Dr. Fairchilds.

Corone. Stevens and Chief of Police Serviss held a conference yesterday which will result in a change in the burial of odles of persons that are killed. Coroner Stevens has had much trouble in the past from the manner in which undertakers have acted at such times. Several years ago the undertakers had an agreement ong themselves to the effect that such bodies should be handled by them in month-ly order, each proprietor getting the bodies for a month in their turn, but recently it seems that this agreement has been annulled. Now when a person is killed the first undertaker to arrive on the ground generally secures the body, and this manner of doing the work has caused unlimited trouble to the officers. In some instances the bodies of persons killed on instances the bodies of persons killed on the streets, in railroad yards or in most any place have been removed by under-takers before the coroner could reach the spot and hold an investigation. Chief of Police Serviss will to-day issue an order to the members of the police force not to allow any undertaker to re-move the body of any person killed until the coroner in person has examined the body, or until a letter is received from the coroner.

A POPULAR JUSTICE.

that the buildings in which they are to be taught are sultable, healthful, well supplied with alds to instruction and etheal in appearance.

"The very character of the work to be done in a system of city schools' separates the duties of the administration into two great departments. One to manage the business affairs, and the other to supervise the instruction.

"The authorities of these two departments should be in sympathy with each other; on the one hand the management should be sound and appreciative of good teaching, only when based upon a scientific and professional basis, and alert to sustain every effort to establish it.

"On the other hand, the supervision should be competent, self-respecting, and ready at all times to uphold good business management and good teaching, founded upon a scientific and professional basis. The object of each department should be to get good school buildings wherever needed and to avoid all schoolhouses which are not suitable; and to prevent all bad teaching by advancing it to the very highest point of special training. The duties of these two departments are distinctive in their powers.

"The business as legislative department is vested in the board of education, which should not be chosen to represent any special ward or political party, but the whole population.

"The board of education should be given power to buy whatever moneys are necessary for school purposes. The term for which the members of the board are elected should be a long one, eay five years. The subject of paramount impertance in a system of schools is to be found in the character of the teaching force and the quality of the instruction impertance in a system of schools is to be found in the character of the teaching force and the quality of the instruction swift sooner or later prove fatal.

"If a teacher, no matter how unfit, cannot be dropped from the list until the board has heard from her personal friends and political advisors, she will remain indehnitely in the service. This means a low tone in the CHARLES Building.

claims that it takes the most valuable property away from his district and does not benefit the pupils in the district. Joe Gray, of the Quindaro district, claims that the establishment of the new district is not warranted by lack of room in the three other school rooms or distance the pupils reside from them. It is claimed that it leaves district 4 in a long strip and takes no children from it, but decreases the valuation a large amount.

The attendance at the services was large and a long string of backs and carriages filled with friends of the deceased followed the remains to the cemtery. The following resolutions were passed by the Wyandotte County Medical Society, of which Mr. Fairchilds was a member:

"Whereas, It becomes our painful duty to announce the death of Dr. C. R. Fairchilds, one of the members of the Wyandotte County Medical Society, and "Whereas, In his death we lose a warm and faithful friend, a valued associate, and an accomplished member of the profession; therefore be it "Resolved, That this society desires to place on record its appreciation of his an acomplished member of the profession; therefore be it.

"Resolved, That this society desires to place on record its appreciation of his genial spirit, his active co-operation in the work of the society, and his deep interest in the scientific questions relative to his chosen profession.

"Resolved, That we express our sincere regret and heartfelt sorrow at his death, "Resolved, That we tender to his sorrow-ing family an expression of our profound sympathy in their great loss.

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions he sent to the bereavel family and to the local journals and that they be spread upon the minutes of the society.

"The term 'Organization of City Schools,' as used by this committee, includes the buildings and appliances, the board of education and the superintendent, the teaching force and the forces which regulate them. Efficient schools can be secured only by providing suitable buildings and appliances, and by keeping them in proper order. This, then, is not only the first step toward the efficiency of a system of city schools, but an imperative demand.

"Suitable buildings and appliances in which and with which to teach are due the patrons of our public school system. For when government comes into our homes and takes our children into its custody from homes of comfort and refinement, to instruct them according to its will, then we acquire at once the right to demand that the buildings in which they are to be taught are suitable, healthful, well supplied with alds to instruction and ethical in appearance.
